

Boiler Plus

What is it and how does it affect my heating system?

Boiler Plus or Heat in Buildings as it may be known is the Government's latest policy to lower the country's carbon emissions and help reach the targets agreed by 2020.

The big change

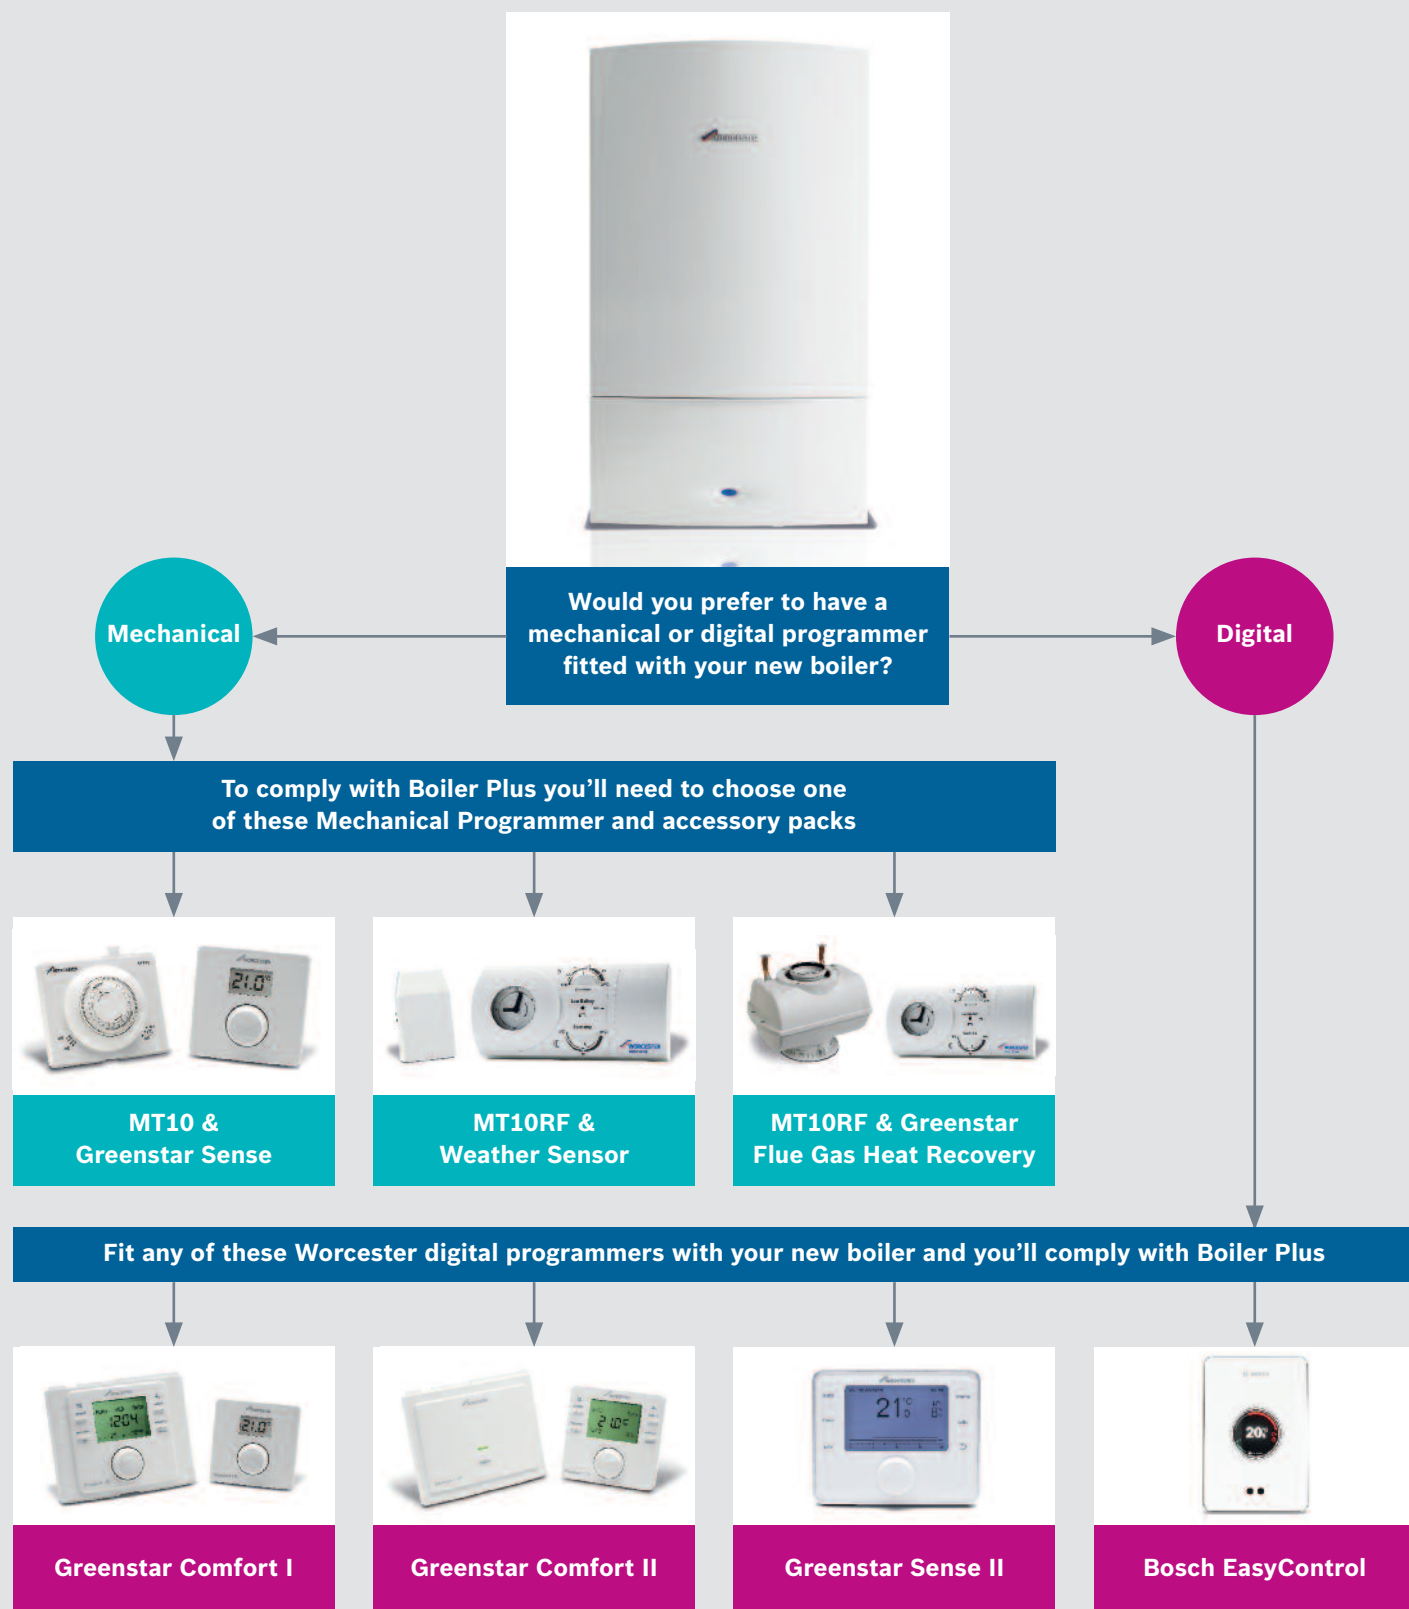

From April 2018 any replacement of a gas fired combi boiler in England must have a minimum efficiency of 92% ErP, which must be installed with a time and temperature control (plenty of options are available).

These new proposals now put more emphasis on your local accredited installer to help specify the most appropriate option for your heating system, one that not only maximises the efficiency, yet is also cost effective too.

Boiler Plus made easy with Worcester Bosch

There is a wide range of programmers for your new Worcester gas boiler that comply with the Boiler Plus legislation.
